A FORECAST

Of Business to be Transacted by Congress This Week.

The Senate Will Consider the Various Appropriation Bills.

Amended Resolution to Recommit the Tariff Bill Will Come up Early—The House Will Discuss the Silver Coinage Bill—Amendments Will be Offered.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Although the present congress has been in session for more than two months, without the customary holiday recess, the senate will only this week get down to the actual business of the session, and begin the consideration of the appropriation bills. Mr. Hanabrough's seed resolution is the unfinished business, and he expects to have a hearing upon it within a few days, although the understanding is that it is to be laid aside temporarily whenever appropriation bills are ready to be considered.

Mr. Quay's amended resolution to recommit the tariff bill to the senate, which was laid over until Monday, will come up early. Mr. Quay says that while the vote will be close, he believes it has an even chance of passing. The populists, however, at their recent conference, decided to vote against recommitment, and if they do so, together with the entire democratic vote, the resolution will not prevail. Mr. Smith, of New Jersey, will address the senate Monday on the Monroe resolutions, now pending. It is believed that he will take ground between the ultra conservatism of his colleague, Mr. Sewell, and the radicalism of Mr. Davis, of Minnesota. The fact that Mr. Smith had conferred with the president on this subject, and his speech, to a certain extent, is believed to reflect the views of the chief executive, will give it interest. Mr. Blanchard, of Louisiana, will also speak on the same subject Tuesday. The effort to change the elective officers of the senate may be made during the latter part of the week, but there is more or less of conjecture, owing to this. While there is abundant work before the senate in the shape of appropriation bills, those having been reported to the senate being the "urgent deficiency, military academy, pensions, and the consular and diplomatic bills. In none of these have many additions been made, save in the urgent deficiency bill, to which, at the request of the treasury department, a large amount for unprovided expenses of the department of justice has been inserted. The house will further discuss the bond silver coinage bill until 12 o'clock Tuesday morning. Notice has been given that a large number of amendments will be offered, and it is not certain when a final vote on the senate free coinage substitute will be reached. It was hoped that it may be had on Wednesday. The silver advocates concede that the republican vote in favor of the substitute will not be as large as that given against the passage of the bond bill last December. It is variously estimated by them at from 25 to 40.

THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

No Reference to the Subject of Arbitration is Made.

LONDON, Feb. 10.—The speech from the throne which will be read at the opening of parliament Tuesday was read at the queen's speech banquet given by Lord Salisbury and Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour, first lord of the treasury, respectively, at No. 29 Arlington street and No. 10 Downing street Monday evening. The speech makes no reference whatever to the subject of arbitration of the Venezuelan dispute.

The speech sets forth that the relations of Great Britain with foreign powers are satisfactory, recapitulates the known facts of the Transvaal trouble, alludes to the necessity for an increase of the naval strength of England, and refers to the dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela and the negotiations with the United States in regard thereto as pending in exactly the same terms as vaguely outlined in Saturday's United Press dispatches which stated that the government of Great Britain had under consideration proposals that offer a prospect of a more peaceful solution of the dispute. The speech also recites the facts of the massacres and disturbances in Armenia. While it deprecates the excesses which have been committed, it says that some degree of satisfaction is to be found in the sultan's promises to institute reforms, but avoids any indication of the future policy of England in regard to Turkey.

Her majesty congratulates the country upon the success of the bloodless operations of the British expedition in Ashante, and deprecates the death of Prince Henry, of Battenberg, who was a member of the expedition.

The speech announces that the measures to be introduced by the government will include an employees' limited liability bill; a measure for the creation of voluntary schools and an Irish land bill; a bill for the formation of an Irish board of agriculture for the relief of agricultural distress; a bill for the regulation of alien pauper immigration and a measure for the construction of light railways for the rural districts.

WAS NOT ROBBED.

He Concocted the Story to Cover up a Shortage.

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 10.—Last Friday evening Frank Speicher, agent at Dunbridge, O., for the United States Express Co. and the Ohio Central railroad, was found unconscious in his office. When he revived he said he had been slugged by two robbers, who had taken an express package containing $110 which he had just made up. Clinton Raab was arrested on suspicion and locked up at Bowling Green, charged with the robbery. Sunday Speicher confessed that he had not been robbed, that he was short in his accounts $200 and that he had invented the robbery story, hoping to cover up his defalcation. To lend plausibility to the story, he had hit himself over the head with the stove poker. Speicher is the third defaulter in the Dunbridge office in as many years.

A second resolution was adopted asking congress to use its influence toward the same ends. Among the speakers were ex-Gov. J. M. ## IN THE SENATE.

Two Resolutions to Receive a Speedy Discussion.

One is Relative to the Enforcement of the Monroe Doctrine.

Mr. Cameron Introduced a Resolution to the Termination of the War in Cuba—Resolution, Recognizing the Rebels as Belligerents, a Special Order.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Notice was given in the senate Monday by Mr. Davis (rep., Minn.) that on Monday next he would address the senate on the resolution, reported by him from the committee on foreign relations relative to the enforcement of the Monroe doctrine.

A bill was introduced by Mr. Pettigrew (rep., S. D.) and laid on the table for the present, authorizing the secretary of the treasury to foreclose the government lien on the Union Pacific and Kansas Pacific Railroad Cos.

Mr. Cameron (rep., Pa.) introduced a resolution relative to the termination of the war in Cuba. After a preamble quoting from the president's last annual message what is said in reference to that subject, a joint resolution provides that, "as it appears there is no means of securing permanent peace to Cuba except by the recognition of its right of self-government, the good offices of the United States are earnestly seconded to the favorable consideration of the Spanish government for the recognition of the independence of Cuba."

The resolution was read a first and second time and laid on the table. Senator Quay's resolution to recommit the house tariff bill with the free coinage amendment to the finance committee for further consideration was laid before the senate and, on suggestion of Mr. Gorman (dem., Md.), Mr. Quay consented to let it go over until Tuesday.

On motion of Mr. Call (dem., Fla.) the resolution as to the recognition of belligerency in Cuba was made the special order after the urgent deficiency bill.

Mr. Smith (dem., N. J.) addressed the senate on the Monroe doctrine.

RUNYON'S REMAINS.

Preparations for Its Shipment to the United States.

BERLIN, Feb. 10.—The body of Hon. Theodore Runyon, late U. S. ambassador to Germany, was removed from the vault, where it has temporarily rested since the funeral services and conveyed to the railway station Monday to be taken to Bremen, where it will be placed on board the steamer Havel, which will sail for New York Tuesday. The coffin and the wreaths which were placed upon it were encased in strongly made boxes for transportation. At the last moment the authorities stated that if the emperor had known of the plans of the family for the removal of the body his majesty would undoubtedly have ordered a military parade from the vault to the station similar to that which accompanied the body of Lord Amthill, the British ambassador, who died in Berlin in 1884.

Presents for Mrs. Gresham.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Shinichi Kuro, the Japanese envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to the United States arrived in Chicago from Washington, accompanied by his secretary. ## THAT COAT.

It Fits Jackson Exactly But Is Too Small for Walling—A Mysterious Cab.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 10.—The coat found in the catch-basin at the corner of John and Richmond streets Saturday was tried on the prisoners Monday. It was a good fit for Jackson, but was found to be too tight and the sleeves were too short for Walling. If the latter wore it his shirt sleeve would have protruded and might have been torn off in a struggle.

A mysterious cab was seen on the Alexandria pike Friday night by a policeman being driven rapidly in the direction of Ft. Thomas and was seen returning about 2 o'clock Saturday morning a short distance this side of the scene of the murder by a gardener who lives in the vicinity.

The boarding house on Ninth street, where Jackson and Walling roomed, was searched thoroughly Monday by the police.

Chief Deitsch will keep the bloody lap robe that was found in Wright Rigby's cab. The latter says that the blood on the robe was put there in October when it was in a survey.

A party of two men and two women took the survey out and had a fight resulting in a bloody nose for one of the party.

He can not tell why the robe was not washed since then. Rigby says that he does not own the robe, and that he merely tossed it into his carriage when it was found, to cover the seat while the slip linings were being taken out.

Evidence of a damaging nature was discovered against Jackson and Walling, the accused murderers of Pearl Bryan, Sunday afternoon. The discovery, in all probability, solves the problem as to how the unfortunate girl lost her life, or at least how she was first attacked.

A bloody handkerchief, which was wrapped around a good-sized rock, making a most formidable weapon, and the hat which was worn by the dead girl when she came to Cincinnati were found.

According to the officers, the hat was found the day after the murder, or Saturday, February 1, a short distance out of Newport, on the Alexandria pike. The person who found the hat is Mrs. Mary Morgan, who peddles milk for a living. The hat was lying at the side of the road, near some privet bushes. In the center of the hat was a bowlder about the size of a man's fist. Underneath the stone was a man's handkerchief, which was covered with blood spots.

The hat was positively identified by Walling as belonging to Pearl Bryan. He also says the handkerchief found belongs to Jackson. Jackson, however, denies it.

ON THE BEACH.

The Three-Masted Schooner Florida Goes Ashore.

In an Attempt to Launch the Life Boat it is Mashed.

The Crew Then Lash Themselves to the Main and Mizzen Masts—Two Bodies Washed Ashore—Life Savers Make an Attempt to Rescue Survivors.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Feb. 10.—The three-masted schooner Florida, of New York, went ashore Saturday afternoon on Salisbury beach. When first observed by two Seabrook fishermen, seven men were seen on the schooner. They attempted to launch a boat, but it was smashed to pieces in the terrible seas. The men took to the rigging and lashed themselves to the main and mizzen masts. There is no life saving station at Salisbury beach, the nearest one being at Plum Island, but the Merrimack river separates them and there is no means of communication except via Newburyport. The telephone station is three miles distant and to this point one of the fishermen hastened. He communicated with this city and the station at Plum Island was notified. Shortly after eight o'clock the life savers started to throw a life line to the ill-fated vessel, but owing to darkness and the heavy wind no definite aim could be taken. About 9 o'clock one body was washed ashore, and shortly afterward a second body was observed in the surf. At 10 o'clock the life savers were endeavoring to get a line over to the vessel, and they will continue their efforts through the night in the hope of rescuing the five men who are supposed to be on the schooner. It is highly probable, however, that all have perished.

At the close of business Tuesday the gold reserve stood at $47,136,148. The withdrawals for the day were $613,200.
